

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A truck ladder assembly for attachment to the underside of a truck trailer bed having a deployable ladder portion slidable from a folded storage position to an extended operational position in which the ladder portion defines a landing in spaced extended relation from the truck bed with extensible hand rails extending there from. The truck ladder is selectively secured to the underside of the trailer bed allowing for multiple repositioning and deployment of the ladder assembly.

5